

Hi,

Here is my unique copyrighted Letter SS logo, which remains available for purchase on Logoground. The user in question never purchased the original logo from me through this platform:

Here is the screenshot showing my logo publish date and stated that I'm the original designer and I'm the copyright holder of the logo. As you can see there is © symbol under my username "Morabira". I use username "Morabira" which matches with the email that I use when making this report.

The MODIFIED "SS part" of the reported logo is an exact copy of my copyrighted logo. For info, my logo did not use any existing fonts. The letter SS are designed from scratch. Basically, the infringer just add crown and some additional details to the SS design to make their logo looks different than my original logo. Here is overlay showing my logo and infringer's logo "SS part" which are identical when they are placed on top of each other:
